

Equipment Sharing Database

Are you looking for research equipment?

Do you want to apply for equipment grants but don't know where to start?

Want to comply with equipment funder requirements but don't know how?

Why we created it

Registering equipment ensures UKRI compliance, evidences our commitment to share, and increases awareness and income.

Access is available to all staff and students.

All of which funders look upon favourably when considering future grant applications and proposals.

How?

Visit the public sharing hub

<https://www.equipment-sharing.cam.ac.uk>

Access and search the database:

What is it for?

if you are searching for particular or specific equipment to work with, to develop collaborations, write a proposal, or if you need to find replacement equipment in a hurry

Find Equipment

Contact the owner

Arrange to use

Start a collaboration

Equipment can also be listed on the National Equipment Portal ensuring even wider awareness

Feedback...

"Just wanted to say a massive thank you for successfully finding us a HoloLens."

"It is good to know that many people are open to sharing around their equipment and I hope this becomes more widespread across departments."

"I think it's a brilliant thing you do for people. It really saved us from going out and buying our own HoloLens which is very pricey."

"Sharing research facilities is extremely helpful for researchers, as it opens up possibilities to move forward with research ideas, even without an all-contained laboratory of your own."

"Great to know such a productive exchange is taking place."

"This was straightforward, and I found what I was looking for right away."

Funding Acquisition

The Project has supported successful equipment grant bids totalling over £6.2M from the AHRC, ESRC and EPSRC.
